'Political Plums' Going To Republicans

500 Bucks Demos Face Job Loss

As many as 500 Bucks County residents will get the ax shortly after Jan. 15 because of the change in state adminstration, political leaders estimated today.

They will include half a dozen prominent Democratic leaders who hold appointive positions under the present regime in Harrisburg and are expected to be fired when Gov.-elect William W. Scranton and the Republicans take over.

Among them will be John T. Welsh, present Democratic chairman for Bucks County, and John C. Mulligan, former Democratic chairman, whom Welsh ousted in a bitter battle last spring. Both Welsh and Mulligan will give up jobs with the state workmen's compensation board.

Expect Replacement

Other well-known persons who expect to be replaced include Hal Lefcourt, employed by the state department of Labor and Industry; Harold Craven, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Authority; attorney Joseph Harr who works in the inheritance tax division of the Department of Revenue; Dominic DiLissio of the same office in Doylestown; Angelo Cordisco, inspector for the department of Labor and Industry, and Oscar A. Booz, county head of the state Department of Highways.

Booz is chairman of the Bristol Township Democratic Committee and DiLissio of the Lower Bucks County Democratic committee.

In Booz' highway department alone, 125 hourly employes and 12 who are salaried are not on Civil Service and, Democratic leaders said, probably will be replaced.

The Democrats made this prediction despite statements by Scranton that he will keep his hands off the highway department and that "competent personnel will be retrained."

"We'll believe that when we see it, and not before," one high Democrat said today.

In addition to the 242 highway workers, there are approximately 125 employes of the Pennsylvania Turnpike who work in Bucks County and are subject to the partronage system.

Scattering Of others

There are a scattering of others working for such state departments as Revenue, Labor and Industry and the attorney-general.

A total of 990 Bucks County residents now hold state jobs, according to Welsh. Of these, 480 are on Civil Service and 510 are "patronage" jobs. However, some of the Civil Service appointments are by governor's proclamation alone and this can be altered by a new administration.

Republicans To Be Hired

In addition, Democratic Civil Service employes can expect some inconvenience under Republican administration, such as transfers to locations far from Bucks County.

For every Democrat who is fired, of course, a Republican will be hired, and the probability is that each Bucks County resident who goes out will be replaced by a Bucks County person. District Attorney Paul R. Beckert, who is chairman of the Bucks County Republican Committee, has said that he will go along with Scranton in the change of personnel and in recommending new employes.

In addition, a few persons in the past have been able to keep their patronage jobs by simply

KENNEDY MEETS ON NEXT CUBA STEP

India Asks United States For Planes

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today that India has asked the United States for military aircraft to bolster Indian defenses in the border war with Red China. He also asked for American machinery to produce arms in India.

The U.S. Embassy here confirmed that both requests were under consideration.

On the fighting fronts, India reported its troops had driven back two new Chinese Communist probing attacks in the northeast frontier area during the weekend.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said the engagements took place a few miles northeast of Jang, in the region of the monastery town of Towang, and in the far eastern stretch of the northeast frontier near Walong.

The spokesman said two Indian patrols contacted Chinese Red troops near Walong and fire was exchanged. He said the Chinese troops "were forced to withdraw."

He said four Indian soldiers were wounded in the weekend engagements but Chinese Communist Casualties were not known.

The report indicated that both Chinese Communist troops and Indians remained active in the vicinity of Walong, 16 miles south of the disputed McMahon Line frontier near the Burma border.

'Elsewhere in the North East Frontier Agency (NEFA), a Chinese patrol was seen a few miles northeast of Jang," an Indian communique said. "Our troops engaged the Chinese aggressors and they withdrew.

Nehru disclosed his request for U.S. aircraft in a talk with newsmen.

Nehru also said he had received firm assurances "recently" from Moscow that Soviet supersonic MIG21 fighters would be delivered on schedule and that Russia would fulfill its promise to establish a MIG factory in India.

Both announcements seemed certain to create an uproar in Peiping. Communist Chinese officials already have denounced American small arms aid to India and have been feuding with the Soviet Union over the conduct Governor-elect Scranton makes his first cabinet appointment by naming Walter E. Alessandroni, his campaign manager, as Pennsylvania's next attorney general.

Not much new in this since Alessandroni's selection had been expected from the beginning should WW win. But Mr. Scranton used excellent judgment, for certainly the new appointee is one of the most able attorneys in the state.

Police Quiz, Free Suspect

Several more people with records of sex crimes were checked and cleared of any connection with the murder of Carol Ann Dougherty, as police continued to work on the case over the weekend.

One man was taken to Bristol police station for questioning on Saturday, but was cleared after being interviewed. The others were cleared without the need for questioning by police officers.

No new leads developed over the weekend, Bristol Police Chief Vincent Faragalli said this morning. Police are still looking for missing parolee Wayne Roach, the 19-year-old Trenton youth who was seen in Bristol on Oct. 22, the day that Carol was raped and strangled in St. Mark's Church.

'Political Obituary Of Nixon'

Hundreds Protest Hiss' TV Interview

New York (UPI) — The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) received more than 1,000 protesting phone calls last night and this morning for allowing Alger Hiss to air his opinion of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon on a nationwide TV show.

A spokesman for the network said it also had received several hundred telegrams following the show, "The political obituary of Richard Nixon."

Convicted Of Perjury

Hiss a former State Department official convicted of perjury in 1950 after a Congressional investigation led by Nixon, was one of those interviewed on the half-hour filmed show.

Hiss said he believed his prosecution by Nixon, then a congressman from California, was politically motivated. ABC said most of the phone calls and telegrams were against the network for letting Hiss air his feelings against Nixon.

Howard K. Smith, commentator on the show, said he tried to get a balanced picture from 12 persons who figured in Nixon's career.

"I did not hesitate to use persons who are disapproving of Nixon to give the complete picture, "said Smith. "I did not expect this uproar."

"Great American"

Herbert Klein, press secretary for Nixon, said the program was filled with "inaccuracies" which "apparently resulted from an attempt to distort the life of a great American who had just suffered defeat.

"Those of us who have known Richard Nixon for many years were utterly shocked," said Klein.

Philharmonic Concert Called Best In Years

By BEN McELVEEN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

A pretty, young blonde-headed girl with a golden horn yesterday bowed with the Delaware Valley Philharmonic Orchestra in a concert at Wilson High School auditorium.

Miss Jane Kurzenberger, 19, of Mayfair, Philadelphia, warmed the hearts of an estimated 400 persons with her rendition on the French horn.

Can you imagine such exquisite beauty as this — a lovely blonde lass with a magnificent golden horn, playing mellow and melodious music with orchestral accomplishment? "Piper, pipe that song again." was this reviewer's cry, after she played Saint-Sanes' Horn Concerto. Opus 94.

Hers was one of many delights offered, as Conductor-Director Henry Kerr Williams presented three guest soloists in a "pops" concert program. Without reser-

Bid Awarded For Part Of Expressway

State Highway Department has disclosed that the contracting firm of James D. Morrisey Inc. has submitted the unofficial low bid for construction of a 1.09 mile portion of the Delaware Expressway in Bucks County. The firm maintains offices in Philadelphia and Newtown.

The bid of $1,709,426 was entered for construction of the expressway north from the Philadelphia line to meet the Andalusia portion in Bensalem Township which is already under construction.

The section which the Morrisey firm seeks to build includes six 24-foot lanes and a 60-foot medial strip. The section would also have 10-foot paved shoulders.

109 Properties

The highway department also announced that bids will be open Nov. 30 for demolition of 109 properties in the Richmond-Cambria areas of Philadelphia through which the expressway will run.

The expressway, a limited access highway, will run from the Delaware County line near International Airport along the Delaware River to the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Bucks County.

Thus far, only the Bucks County portion of the expressway is under construction.

While the $300 million expressway is not expected to be completed for several years, the Bucks County section, upon completion next year, will be utilized by motorists as a limited access roadway stretching from Andalusia to its terminating point near Route 413.

Votes Official! Scranton Top Man For GOP

Governor - elect William W. Scranton tallied 63,442 votes in emerging the highest man on the Republican ticket in Bucks County in Tuesday's election.

Scranton defeated Richardson Dilworth, who trailed all other Democratic candidates.

The official tabulation of election day ballots took place Friday between noon and 10 p.m. at the county board of elections office in Doylestown.

Congressman Willard S. Curtin, who won re-election, was the second highest man on the tickets, leading local candidates with 59,116 votes. Curtin's opponent, James A. Michener, received 46,906 votes.

Clark Tops Demos

U.S. Senator Joseph S. Clark led the Democratic ticket with 49,310 votes. Although outpolled in Bucks by James E. VanZandt (57,041) Clark was re-elected U.S. Senator.

Doylestown attorney Robert W. Valimont, unsuccessful candidate for state senator, outpolled his running-mate, Michener, by 162 votes. Valimont was defeated by State Senator Marvin V. Keller (58,337).

Harold Hellyer, clerk of the Board of Elections, said that four Socialist-Labor candidates on the state ticket polled 1,468 votes with George S. Taylor, candidate for governor, polling the largest number-435 votes.

Write-In Votes

Hellyer said there were five write-in votes, Earl Smith, Bensalem Township's long-standing candidate for governor, received one vote. Two other write-in votes for governor went to Peter Kriwzuk and A. G. Zimmerman. Bensalem JP Albert Schultz got a write-in vote for Congress and John G. Chrostek Bensalem Township, received a write-in for lieutenant governor.

The official vote count was conducted by the county commissioners with Mrs. Esther Goss, a Democrat, and Walter M. Carwithen Sr., a Republican, as tabu-

Motorcyclist Found Hurt

A Bristol motorcyclist overturned on Lakeside Drive, Levittown, and apparently was unconscious in the street for 15 minutes before he was found by a Lakeside resident. The accident happened Saturday evening.

Frederick J. Schreffer, 23, 343 Lafayette St., was treated on the scene for a lacerated arm by the Levittown Fairless Hills Rescue Squad.

Mrs. Charles Kuhar, 498 Lakeside Drive, said she heard moans about 6:45 p.m. as she was taking out the garbage.

In the dark she saw Schreffer's white helmet and the youth lying in the street near the curb. He was just coming to, she said.

Mrs. Kuhar's husband estimated that the accident occurred 15

Missiles Out, U.S. Still Wants Proof

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — President Kennedy met today with his top U.N. aides and national security council advisers for a major review of the Cuban crisis in light of removal of Russian missiles from the Caribbean Island.

The President met jointly with the U.N. group and the executive committee of the National Security Council shortly after he returned from a quiet family weekend at Middleburg, Va.

Negotiations for on-site verification of the removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba was expected to be a major topic of discussion in the meeting.

U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, Charles D. Yost, U.S. security council representative, and John J. McCloy, Kennedy's security council representative, and John J. McCloy, Kennedy's special adviser on Cuba, were called from New York for the meeting.

Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric said Sunday that 42 Russian missiles had been removed from Cuba. This was the number the Soviet Union claimed it had sent to the island.

But Gilpatric said the United States had no proof that all such missiles had been removed and would never be sure unless on-site inspection was permitted.

Bombers Remain

He said all offensive weapons had to be withdrawn before this country would lift its naval blockade or promise not to invade Cuba. He noted that Soviet IL28 jet bombers still are in Cuba and are considered offensive weapons by Kennedy.

Stevenson, McCloy and Yost were expected to report to the President on the progress of their talks with Acting U.N. Secretary General Thant and Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov.

The three U.S. negotiators have met three times with Kuznetsov since their last conference with Kennedy a week ago Saturday.

Gilpatric indicated the United States would not accept any Soviet argument that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro would not give up the nuclear-capable jet bomb-

Police Catch 2 Men Trying To Open Safe

Two men were arrested yesterday while in the middle of an unsuccessful attempt to break open a safe containing about $100 in Bristol Moose Home, Radcliffe St., Bristol.

The men are Raymond Corbyn, 38, and John Bernard, 31, both of Providence, R.I. They were found hiding in the cellar, where they had hidden after being surprised by police officers at about 4:30 a.m.

Climb Fire Escape

The two men gained entry by climbing a fire escape and breaking a second floor window. They went through the secretary's office, and first tried to get through the wall of the large walk-in safe. They were unable to do so, and then tried to get through the ceiling. That beat them too. Before they had a chance to figure out the next move, police arrived.

Bristol Borough Police Sgt. Earl Buck and Patrolman John Crossey were checking the building when they heard the sound of tapping coming from inside. They radioed for assistance from Bristol Township police, and the two forces surrounded the building.

Runs Back Inside

Police then climbed the fire escape, and saw a man come out onto the roof from the second floor window. As soon as he saw them, he ran back inside.

Police followed, and searched the building, finding the burglars' tool kit near the safe. The men were eventually found hiding in the cellar, and when challenged gave up without a struggle.

They were taken to Bristol

Couple Sues Bristol Twp. For Faulty Home Building

Two Local Artists Receive Awards

Two Levittown residents received cash awards in the 12th annual exhibition of paintings and sculpture of the Regional Council of Community Art Centers.

Listed as winner in the non-professional painting class is Pat Somers, 8 Rust Hill Road, Levittown. Her composition, entitled "Fruit," brought her $100.

Augusta Powell, 15 Marigold Circle, Levittown, is the winner of the non professional sculpture class. Her entry was "Flight." She received $50. Both artists are members of the Levittown Artists Association.

The exhibition opens tomorrow and continues through Nov. 23 at Fidelity - Philadelphia Trust Company, Broad and Walnut Sts., Philadelphia. It includes 150 paintings as well as sculpture, craft work and children's art submitted from 13 member art centers.

Judges for the exhibition were Susan Gertrude Schell, faculty member of the Philadelphia Museum College of Art; John Lear, watercolorist; and Irwin W. Solomon, art collector and author of "How to Start and Build an Art Collection."

Bristol Township police officers who took part in the arrest were Sgt. Robert Hibbs and Officers Frank Moffet, James DeLong and Woodrow Wilson.

The burglary attempt did little to dampen the spirits of the Moose members, who have been celebrating the 50th anniversary of the foundation of the lodge this weekend. Events planned for yesterday afternoon and evening went ahead as planned.

Lodge Governor Mickey Karmazin said that there was only about $100 at most in the safe, and denied reports that the total was between $2,000 and $3,000.

"We hold the Soviets responsible for the types of military equipment which it has furnished to Castro and as of the present time we regard removal of those bombers as within the capacity of the Soviets to bring about," Gilpatric said.

Gilpatric's remarks were recorded for a television interview after U.S. warships made visual checks at sea Friday and Saturday of Soviet freighters taking missiles away from Cuba.

The U.S. demand for on-site inspection got strong support today from Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who warned of the Soviet missile buildup two months ago.

Little League Road Solution?

One interested citizen has responded to a problem facing the American Little League of Levittown. The league has voiced concern because its league field on the Village Park site, Fairless Hills, has no road leading to it.

Mrs. Amelia Leeper of 8719 Newportville Road believes she knows of a solution.

She says a road which belongs to the Danherst Corporation, Fairless Hills, leads right to the league field. She says, according to a Danherst map, the road is called "Keltner Road," but is not opened to traffic.

Mrs. Leeper believes the road, if opened, could easily accommodate traffic heading for a league ballgame. She says the road runs from Newportville Road to Rathburn Road.

Going in Circles

By Charles (Scoop) Lewis

Orchids to the citizenry of Bristol Township.

Several of the residents extended their hand of hospitality to visitors from Coventry, Conn., over the weekend.

The occasion was the third annual Goodwill Bowl football game played yesterday on the Laurel Bend gridiron. The Coventry Panthers, who traveled 215 miles for the game, were a happy band going back home last night. They won the game, 12-7.

The midget gridders from Connecticut arrived by bus Saturday evening and stayed overnight at the homes of Bristol Township players. Yesterday morning, after breakfast, the Connecticut and Pennslyvania youngsters went to church together.

Following the game, the brief, but pleasant friendship concluded with supper in the various local homes before the Coventry boys boarded the bus for the trip back home.

Many of the parents journeyed from Connecticut for the game and they had nothing but the highest praise for the "wonderful time we've had in your community."

Pete Aungst, coach of the Bristol Township Midgets, was instrumental in setting up all the arrangements and providing the fine hospitality. He expressed his thanks to the DeGrand Diner and the Delaware Valley Motel for their feeding and housing of the visiting coaches — without charge.

Bristol Township's commissioners added their generosity by presenting two handsome trophies to the winners and the losers. Commissioner Carl F. Vetter made the presentations following the game.

Orchids from the superintendent.

In a recent issue of the National Education Association publication TRENDS, the Bristol Township-Delhaas Schools' procedure of bringing attention to good practices and honors of teachers was acknowledged.

"To test readership," Superintendent Robert P. Martin wrote, "an 'Orchids from the Superintendent' column was omitted from one issue of the staff newsletter. 'News and Views.' A swarm of inquiries indicated that the feature may be most popular in the publication."

The congratulatory-type column may soon be in newsletters of other school districts around the country. Martin reports that inquiries regarding the column have been received from Shamokin, Pa.; the University of Connecticut; East Detroit Public Schools; Boyden-Hull School District of Hull, Iowa, and the New York City Board of Education.

Orchids to the Bristol Twp.-Delhaas School System.

James H. McGoldrick, administrative assistant to the superintendent, commented thusly after last Thursday night's stormy school board session in which 350 teachers walked out of the meeting over the reading of a "suggestive immoral" letter:

"Despite all that has transpired, it is my opinion that this is the best school system in the state, and that we do more things for more children, and we do them better than anyone else."

Mrs. Claire Van Rensselaer

Mrs. Claire Landis Van Rensselaer, 58, wife of Charles K. Van Rensselaer of Gough Ave., Ivyland, died Friday in Holy Redeemer Hospital, Meadowbrook. She was a member of the Ivyland Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are her husband, Charles; two sons, Charles K. Jr. of Philadelphia and Stephen of Staten Island, N.Y.; a granddaughter, and a brother, Percy I. Landis of Baltimore, Md.

Private services and interment will be held at the convenience of the family under the direction of the Wm. Rowen Grant Funeral Home Inc., Southampton.

George H. Bergmann

George H. Bergmann, 55 Elm Lane, Levittown, died Saturday in Rolling Hill Hospital, Philadelphia, following a prolonged illness. He was 68 years old. Mr. Bergmann was the husband of the late Hazel Bergmann.

A former resident of Edgely, he had been employed by Geuting's Shoe Stores in Philadelphia for 25 years before his retirement in 1959.

Survivors include two sons, George H. Bergmann Jr., Levittown; and Edward H. Bergmann, Tullytown; a brother, William Bergmann, Medford Lakes, N.J.; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Annesley, Philadelphia; and Ruth Bergmann, also of Philadelphia; and five grandchildren.

Relatives and friends are invited to attend the services tomorrow at 1 p.m. from the funeral home of John C. Black, 314 Cedar St., Bristol. Interment will be in Forest Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

Demos Face

changing their registration, although this number is not high.

One high-placed state officeholder from Bucks County who was appointed by Gov. Lawrence but will hold his position is Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Boehm, whose home is in Lower Makefield, was appointed to a specific term which still has two years to go.

In addition, he is a registered Republican although named by a Democrat to his present job. Such is his reputation in education circles that he might not be replaced when his term expires, some Democrats believe.

January Expiration

Welsh, who is chairman of the workmen's compensation board, also was named to a specific term which expires in January. Mulligan's term expires at the end of this year.

Constantine Mitchell, former Bensalem Township manager now working for the auditor-general's office, may keep his job since the auditor general, Thomas Z. Minehart, was elected two years ago for a four-year term. Minehart, a Democrat, will stay in office for two more years and control his personnel.

Jack Sirott, Middletown Township attorney, is expected to be replaced as a member of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission. His term expires in January, too. Sirott was appointed to the unexpired term of Judge John Fullam when Fullam was appointed to the bench.

Leona Ruch of Upper Black Eddy, with the state department of Labor and Industry as a cosmetology inspector, and Shirley Cooper, Middletown Township, a sales tax inspector for the Department of Revenue, are others who will probably lose their jobs.

There are also three other employes of the inheritance tax division, besides Harr and DiLissio.

Down The Line

The firing may not be immediately after Jan. 21 when new Republican state cabinet members go into office, since various department heads will have to be changed down the line.

The only ray of hope for some of the top-line Democrats lies in possible federal jobs since the Democrats still control the national adminstration and in addition took over a few Congressional districts which they did not control prior to the Nov. 6 election.

However, only high-level Democratic leaders in the county could be expected to be named to federal jobs.

The beam was attached to the motorcycle, which had struck a curb, thrown Schreffer, and travelled about 25 feet over lawns before coming to rest.

After treatment Schreffer went on his way. He did not require hospitalization. Tullytown police investigated the accident.

Child Development Center Re-Dedicated

"The program set a new low in undistinguished reporting."

On the program, Hiss said he had no feeling of hostility against Nixon, although he regarded the former vice president's actions against him as "motivated by ambition, by personal self-serving."

Others On Program

"I think that he was politically carried along," Hiss declared. "Whether the initial motivation was political, I certainly don't think that he was unaware of the political boost, the political soaring up into outer space that the hearings and subsequent trial provided for him."

Also appearing on the program were Jerry Voorhis, five - term congressman from California whom Nixon defeated in 1946; Los Angeles attorney Murray Chotiner who managed Nixon's first campaign; and Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., a longtime friend of Nixon.

ABC vice president in charge of news James C. Hagerty said most of the protests came from California and the New York City area. He personally handled a number of calls and said he told those objecting: "Won't you please do me the favor of reserving your criticism until after you've seen the program?"

Hagerty said the network at no time considered cancelling the program.

Hiss, now a New York salesman, was convicted and jailed on perjury charges in connection with his association with the late Whittaker Chambers, who at one time was a Soviet spy courier. Hiss has said since the charges were first lodged that he is innocent.

Falls To Air Zone Changes

The zoning map of Falls Township may be in for some changes when the board of supervisors meets Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the township building.

At that time it will hear pros—and cons on the planning commission's proposed ordinance to create historic zoning for Fallsington. The supervisors may enact the ordinance Wednesday or, if opposition is strong, take it under advisement for future action.

The supervisors will also consider passage of an ordinance seeking to change the classification of three tracts of land, two of them from light industrial to residential, the other from light industrial to commercial. The tracts of land involved are part of the former John Loch farm and the Edward Gancarz farm.

Public Hearing Wednesday

Vogel Backs Historic Zoning In Falls Twp.

At least one person feels historic zoning for Fallsington could have a "tremendous affect of Falls Township's economy."

The proposed zoning ordinance goes before the Falls Township Board of Supervisors Wednesday at a public hearing.

According to Richard Vogel, chairman of the Falls Planning Commission, enactment of the ordinance could result in state aid for development of adjoining areas. He said nearby areas could be converted into park sites, picnic areas, parking areas, with the result of making the area a big tourist attraction.

Get Background

Vogel said the planning commission held a special meeting Saturday with the supervisors and the zoning board "to give the supervisors sufficient background information to prepare them for Wednesday's hearing."

Vogel said he showed the supervisors a magazine which indicated what another township had done with historic zoning. He said the zoning had brought into the area an estimated 300,000 tourists annually.

"Businesses Benefit"

"The tourists brought with them $2 million in spending money. What's more, the zoning helped outlying businesses to benefit, such as highway motels," Vogel said.

Commenting on whether or not he felt the supervisors would enact the ordinance, Vogel said "They seemed to voice no objections to the ordinance at Saturday's meeting. I think the proposal will be enacted. Historic zoning is new in this county," he added.

Objects To Ordinance

One person who is objecting to the ordinance is Woodward C. Carter, who owns property at 8 Meetinghouse Lane, adjacent to the Burges - Lippincott House. Carter has been repeatedly frustrated in his attempts to get zoning approval for erecting what he terms a Cape Cod house on the property.

Vogel said the zoning board, which has been holding Carter's appeal "under advisement," will make a decision at its Thursday meeting. He said the zoning board indicated at Saturday's meeting it would take into consideration "the welfare of the township as well as Carter's welfare."

Drunk Driving Charge Levied

A two-car collision on Route 1 on Saturday, involving a Levittown driver, resulted in drunk driving charges being levied against the other driver.

Charged before Justice of the Peace Stephen Nieckoski, of Middletown Township, was James Woodward, 52, of Honeybrook, Pa. He was released under $500 for a further hearing.

He was involved in a collision with a car driven by George Hazard, 34, 39 Conifer Road, Cobal Ridgette, Levittown, at 1:30 as both drivers drove west on Route 1.

Middletown Township Police Lieutenant Joseph Zalot investigated.

Medicos May Act In Baby Case

LIEGE, Belgium (UPI) — A medical asssociation may decide tonight whether to take action against Dr. Jacques Casters who was acquitted with the mother and three other defendants in the death of a thalidomide-deformed baby, reliable sources reported.

Contractor Named As Co-Defendant

A Bristol Township couple, who claim that their home collapsed in October of 1961 due to faulty construction, has brought suit against the township.

Robert G. and Felicia V. Miterko of 22 Ruby Lane, Red Cedar Hill, Levittown, are seeking damages in excess of $5,000 in Bucks County Court. They claim that the township was negligent in not insuring that the construction conformed with the township building code.

Named as co-defendants in the suit are Leonard Newman, Bristol Township building inspector, and the builder, William Veisz.

Basement, Shelter

The Miterkos had contracted with Veisz over a year ago to have a basement and fallout shelter erected alongside their Rancher-type home. The builder at the time lived in Bristol Township, but has moved. Newman today said that Veisz is believed to be working somewhere in New Jersey.

Newman had "no comment" on the suit when contacted today.

The Miterkos said that they had paid Veisz $1,500 and that in the spring of this year the builder stopped work on the project. He reportedly had gone bankrupt.

Shores had to be placed against the walls of the uncompleted basement to keep it from buckling. Foundation around the home by the basement walls cracked, creating additional hazards to the home.

Miterko, from time to time, had to pump water out of the hole alongside the house. The presence of water created an unequal pressure which caused the basement wall to collapse.

Inside their house, the Miterkos had to have braces erected in the living room to relieve the load of the house from footing along the weakened wall. The wall was weakened by washouts and the relocating of a sewer line along the edge of the house.

Home Inspected

Bristol Township commissioners inspected the home after Commissioner Jack Ward, Democrat from the township's eighth ward, had brough the Miterkos' case up at a board meeting. However, the commissioners declared the township had no jurisdiction in the matter since it had constituted a civil breach of contract.

Ward later fought to have the commissioners adopt legislation requiring the licensing of such home improvement contractors. Newman also advocated such licensing.

However, no legislation has been adopted by the commissioners.

Audrey Kelly Gains 9 Votes

Audrey Kelly, Republican candidate for secretary of internal affairs, picked up nine votes Friday in her close race with Democratic incumbent Genevieve Blatt, according to the official Bucks County election count.

The official count for Bucks gave Miss Blatt 46,787, an increase of 200 over Tuesday's unofficial total and Mrs. Kelly 58,166, 209 ballots more than the unofficial figure.

The race is expected to be decided this Friday when absentee and military ballots will be counted in Bucks County and other counties throughout the state. The absentee and military ballots are estimated between 40,000 and 50,000 in Pennsylvania.

Miss Blatt now leads Mrs. Kelly by more than 3,000 votes.
